An Advertisement

People who have something they wish to sell often write an advertisement to persuade other people to buy it. Then they put the advertisement in a shop or in their local paper. Conor wrote this advertisement, hoping to sell his bike.

Bike for sale! Fantastic bargain!

Are you tired of walking or waiting for the bus? Do you need to get around town quickly? If so, you need a bicycle, and I have just the one for you.

This bike is in perfect condition and is suitable for a boy or girl aged nine years or older. It has six gears, lights on the front and back, and a carrier. It is painted blue and silver and has reflective strips. There is a bell on the front. The saddle is comfortable and there is a speedometer which tells you your speed and the number of kilometres you have travelled. It comes with a stand and a very good locking device.

This bike is being sold at a bargain price.

It will cost you just €50.

You will get hours of enjoyment from it.

If you are interested in viewing this great bargain, contact

Conor at 080-00396732.

Examine Conor's Advertisement

Read Conor's advertisement and answer the following.

- 1 Are his opening sentences persuasive? ____ Why?

- 2 Write four good features that this bike has.

- 3 Who might be interested in this bike?

- 4 Would you be persuaded to buy this bike? ____ Why?

- 5 List four persuasive words that Conor has used to convince you to buy this bike.

- 6 Are there any reasons why you would not buy this bike?

- 7 List the places you would cycle to if you bought this bike.

Plan an Advertisement

Pretend that you have something that you want to sell: an old teddy bear, a toy, a tent, a book, a schoolbag, or a computer game. You are going to place an advertisement on the notice board in your local shop. Think of all the reasons why people should buy this object. Try very hard to persuade them to do so. Use this frame to write your advertisement.

Name the object you wish to sell.

For Sale

Draw a picture of it.

Write an eye-catching title.

Write an opening sentence that will grab a buyer's attention.

Now list the good features of your object.

Name any extra features that your object has.

Give details of price and contact numbers.

Write a closing sentence that will really persuade someone to buy this object.

Revise and check this first draft. Write the final draft in your copy or on your computer. Draw a picture of the item. Put it with the advertisement on your class notice board. You might find a buyer!
